

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New English Learning program from Workplace Spanish®

Roswell, GA, December, 11 2008 - Workplace Spanish, Inc. has launched a new program to its "Trabajadores Series" of English learning products. "Inglés para Trabajadores" is designed for companies who want to train their Spanish-speaking associates in "workplace English." It is the second in the "Trabajadores" series and is applicable to workers in virtually any industry.

While the company is well known for its wide array of Spanish-learning products, "Inglés para Trabajadores" addresses the needs of organizations with Spanish-speaking workforces. Developed from the worker's perspective, the learning program will help Hispanics communicate in basic English to ask about pay, job duties and work procedures, and many other topics", said Tom Sutula, president of Workplace Spanish.

"From an organization's perspective, learning English that can be used at work is a win-win for the company and the employee," Sutula continued. "The company will improve its productivity, while the employees will become better skilled and more valuable."

The program includes a 55-page manual with audio CD and is also available on the company's exclusive Click It[®] CD-ROM. While it can be utilized on a self-study basis, it is best used in a class training environment where a bilingual leader can answer questions and guide "students" through the most appropriate material. Workplace Spanish, Inc. also offers customization services to meet specific needs.. For more information on this program and the company's "Trabajadores Industriales" program, please visit the company's website at www.workplacespanish.com or send an e-mail to info@workplacespanish.com.
